- shares of the issuer in his name and for its own account;
- shares of the issuer in his name, but on the account of another person;

44. (new – SG, issue 52 of 2007, effective as of 01.11.2007) "Controlled company" under Chapter 6 "a" and Chapter 11, Section I, is a company, where a person:

- a) holds, including through a subsidiary, more than half of the votes in the General Meeting;
- b) has the right to appoint more than half the members of the management or supervisory authority and at the same time is a shareholder or associate in this company; in the case of the aforementioned to the votes of the controlled person the voices of the companies are added over which it exercises control, as well as the votes of the persons who act in their name, but for his account or for the account of the person controlled by him;

¹⁵ Examples: call options, futures, forwards and etc. Instruments in one type, but with a different validity period to be grouped chronologically together in the furthest expiration date of the instrument.

¹⁶ The date on which the entitlement to acquire shares with voting rights from the public company expires.

¹⁷ In case the financial instrument has a period, in which the rights related to it could be exercised – it is necessary to indicate this period. For example: the first five days of each month until the right on the instrument.

¹⁸ Examples: call options with cash settlement payments, swaps, contracts for difference, etc. Multiple instruments of the same type, but with different validity period to be grouped chronologically together, according to the furthest expiration date of the instrument.

¹⁹ Sufficient indicators are: "cash", "physical", and "both".

²¹ In case the person obliged to submit the notification is controlled or exercises control over another person, which directly or indirectly owns voting rights in the General Meeting of the public company, the second option applies.

²² Important! It is always necessary to provide the full structure of the controlled companies. In other words, the chain should include:

1. the person, who/which has the obligation to submit the notification.
2. the persons which control the person, subject to p.1 (indicated above)
3. the persons who/which are controlled the person, subject to p.1 (indicated below), in case these persons hold directly and indirectly voting rights in General Meeting of the public company or the relevant financial instruments.

The full structure has to be presented also in case a threshold of significant shareholding is crossed, even if this threshold is crossed only by one controlled subsidiary and it submits the notification for major holdings. That is so, because by presented full structure, the participants in the capital market get a full picture of the group, which actually holds the voting rights.

In case the voting rights and/or financial instruments related to them are controlled by a number of groups, which individually hold directly or indirectly a particular part of the shares of a public company and/or their relevant financial instruments, it is necessary that the structures of all groups, which participate in the direct and indirect control over the voting rights of the public company, are presented. In this case, upon presentation of the structures of these groups, a blank line should be left between two separate groups (For example A, B, C, blank line, A, B, E, blank line, A, F, G and etc.)

²³ The names of the controlled persons through which voting rights and/or financial instruments related to them are effectively held, is necessary to be indicated, regardless of whether the controlled persons themselves cross a threshold or the threshold was crossed by another person of the structure.
